The Eppesonian 1957

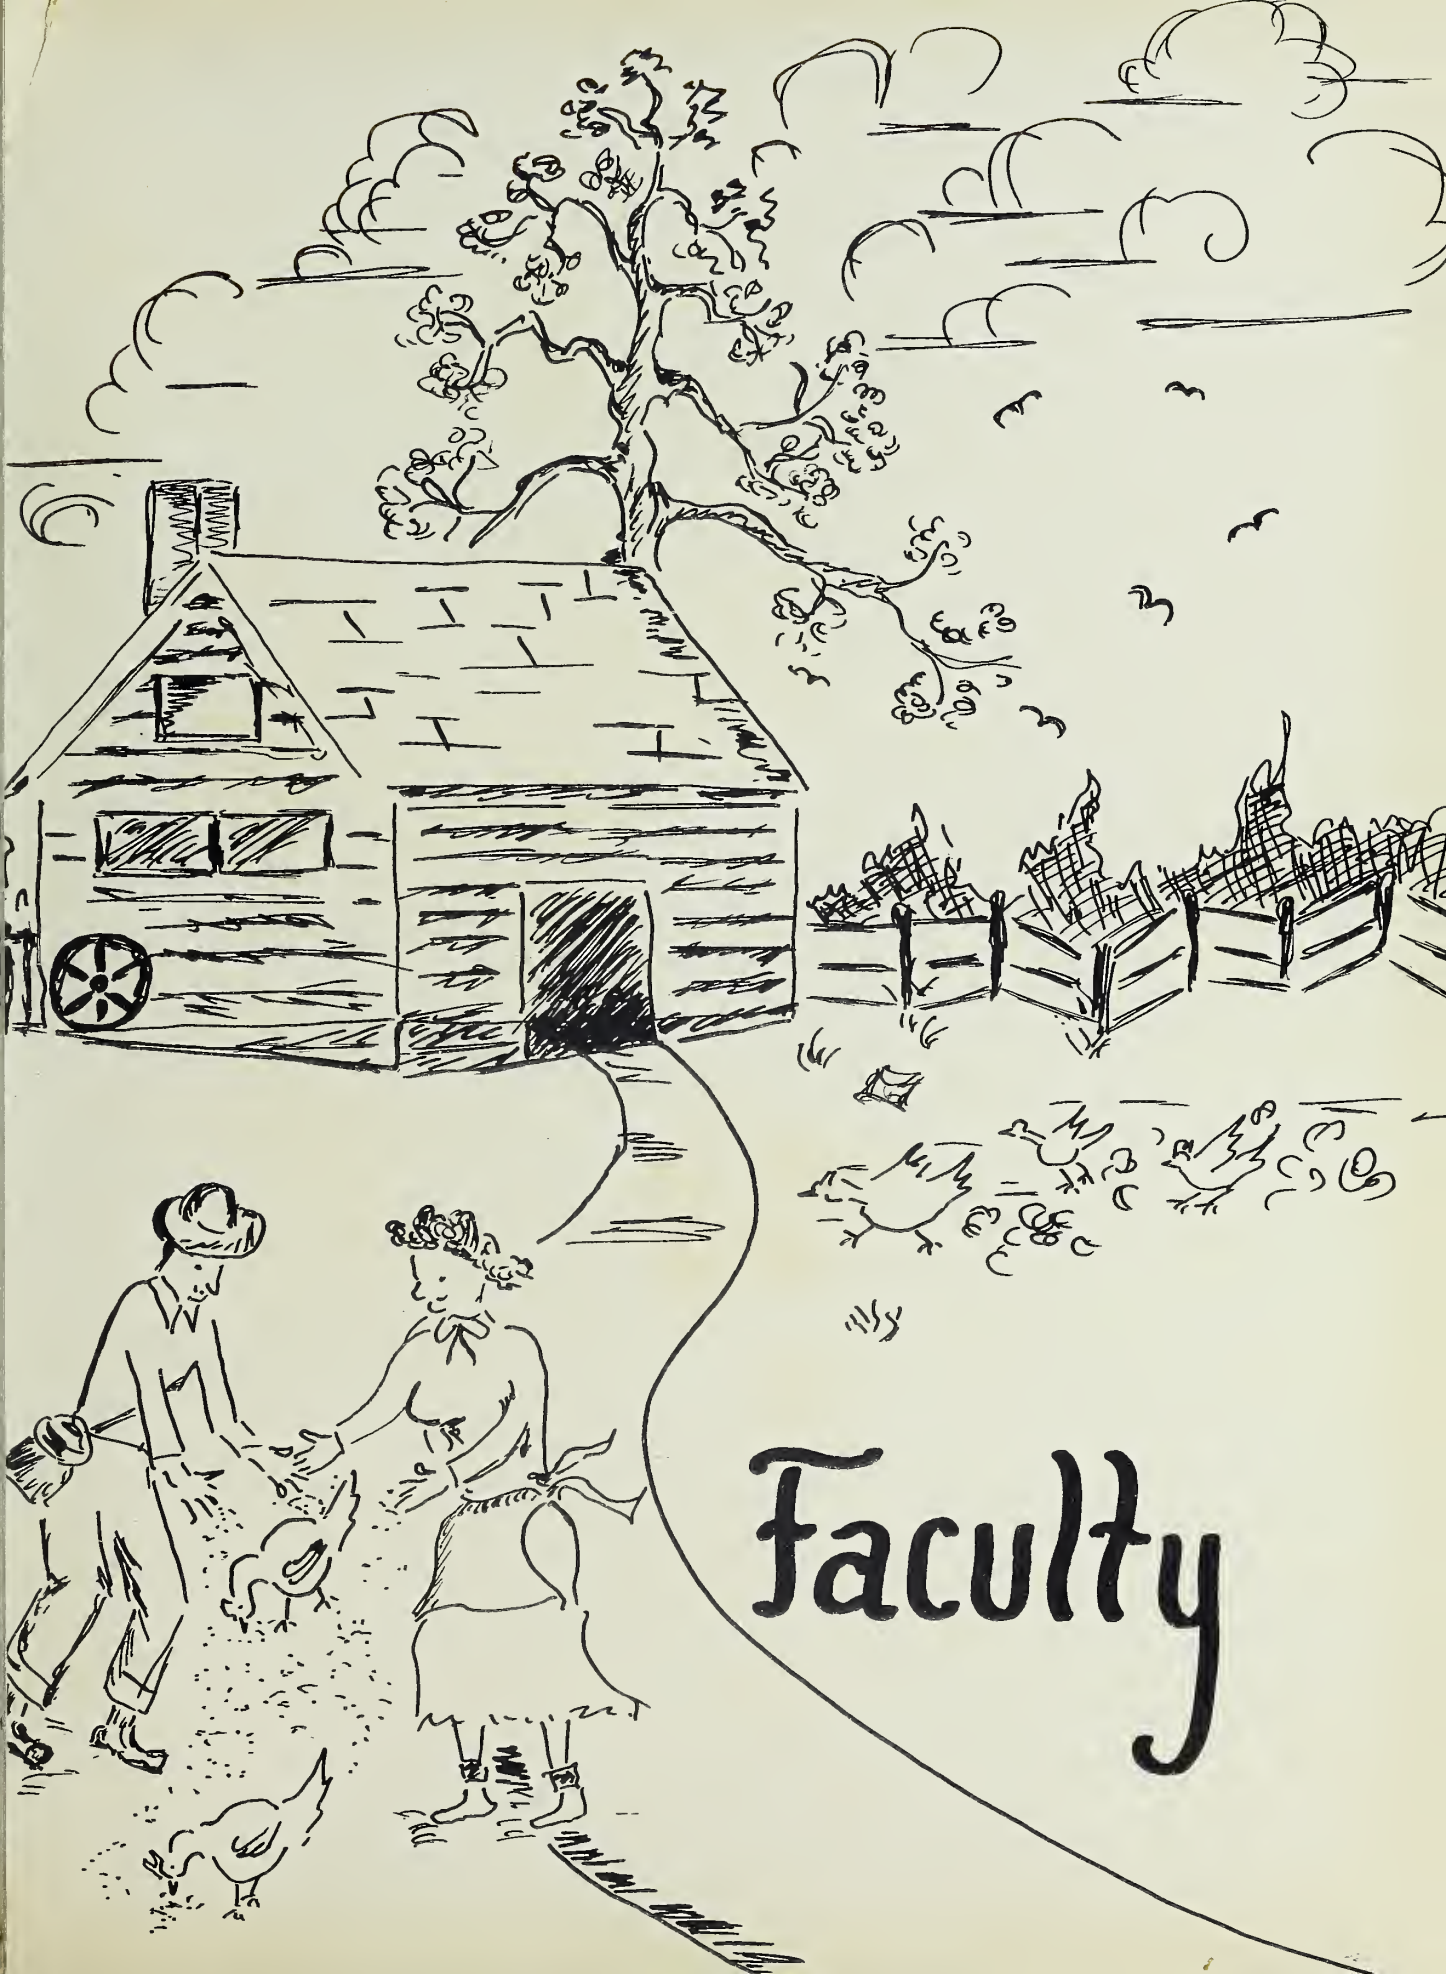

Presented By
THE SENIOR CLASS
C. M. Eppes High School
Greenville, North Carolina

Dedication

"Sincerely" ...For gestures of friendship that have been extended to us; for sympathy, kindness, and patience shown; for constantly reminding us that we are worth more potentially than we are materially; and for love that no words can express; we, the class of 1957, of C. M. Eppes High School, proudly and sincerely dedicate this year's Eppesonion to...

Principal's Message

To the Senior Class:

Each edition of the Eppesonion is an essential part of your contribution to the history of Eppes High School. This issue, like all other issues, shows a unique venturing forth into the future. This venture will remain in the hearts of your principal, teachers, and schoolmates.

It is my wish that you will venture forth, in a like manner, into our more complexed society, putting into practice other such principles that will help you "brave" the many problems waiting to greet you.

CLASS HISTORY

About eighty-five little eggs rolled into their nests in the freshman 'homerooms' four years ago. "Peep! Peep! Peep! Some of us were beginning to peck through. Mrs. M. G. Thompson and Mr. Frank Wilson, Jr. helped us "come out of our shells." Valgene Gibbs and Joseph Tyson presided over the two broods. Outstanding this year were James Nichols, who won the History Award; Beulah Weeks, secretary-elect of the Student Council; and Wista Adams, who won the local Civics Award and the first place in the State Typing Contest. Mary Jane Sherrod reigned as Homecoming Queen for the class. The year was highlighted by our freshman party to which most of the female nestlings went in early evening with escorts for the first time.

As wiser little biddies, we fluffed our downy feathers proudly when we returned to school in the fall as sophomores. Mrs. O. B. Myers and Mrs. S. L. Davenport, our advisers, provided excellent mash to keep us growing. Valgene Gibbs and Joseph Tyson continued as presidents of the two divisions. Our class produced the prize-winning skit, "Pa Has a Fit," in a school dramatic tournament. Beulah Weeks was again elected secretary of the Student Council and Milbon Cobb and Samuel Daniels earned certificates in masonry. Shirley Smith was the honored chickabiddy serving as class queen. Our Homecoming float this year "The Spirit of Liberty" evoked many comments as it rolled along in the parade.

We felt we were rather important chicks when we reached our junior year, since we were now in the senior high school division; and we looked forward eagerly to the Junior-Senior Prom. Our advisers, Miss E. L. McConnell and Mr. A. E. Murrell reminded us constantly that we must keep scratching diligently to get choice worms. Knowing that we had much business to transact this year, the class was organized as one unit, with Joseph Tyson serving as president for the third time. Outstanding chicks were Eleanor Newton, winner of the French Prize; Governor Anderson, recipient of a certificate in masonry; Beulah Weeks, Student Council secretarial nominee for a third term; Jimmy Jones, Student Council president-elect; and Delois Sherrod, Shirley Daniels and Wista Adams, winners of typing certificates from Cortez-Peters School of Business. Wista Adams and Ester Sneed were marshals. Our Junior-Senior Banquet "A Night in Hawaii" was a tremendous success!

There was much activity in the barnyard our senior year! Mrs. E. B. Graves and Mrs. L. C. Hunter cautioned us not to "count our chickens before they were hatched" and kept us from being chicken-hearted under an avalanche of assignments. Herbert Harper was class president. Since we were almost full-grown hens and roosters, the whole student body, it seemed, looked to us for leadership. Joe Baker was elected president of the Safety Patrol and The Hi-Y; Valgene Gibbs, The Little Theatre, The N. H. A. and the Tri-Hi-Y; Dorothy White, the band; Joseph Tyson, The Teen-Age Club; Wista Adams, The F. B. L. A.; David Williams and Eleanor Newton, two divisions of Le Cercle Francais; James Brewington, The Glee Club; and Jimmy Jones, The Student Council. Joseph Tyson and James Brewington were co-captains of the football team; Robert Edwards and James Brewington were co-captains of the basketball team. Beulah Weeks served her fourth year as secretary of the Student Council. James Brewington was signally honored when he was chosen to play tackle on the All-State High School Team. The publication of the third edition of the Eppesonion, one of the most gratifying class projects this year, was a fitting climax to four enjoyable years of school life.

CLASS PROPHECY

Chanticleer had something on his mind. "Meet me in the northeast corner of the barnyard when all the chickens have gone to roost," he crowed. "I have something to show you."

I was surprised to find that the old rooster had unearthed a crystal ball while scratching for tidbits.

Brushing his wing slowly over the ball, he cried, "Look closely, now. After the cloud clears, we may see into the future."

This is what we saw:

Governor Anderson in his own barber shop in Times Square, cutting the hair of the Nobel Prize winner, novelist Milbon Cobb

Wista Adams, head of the business department of the University of Pittsburg, conferring with her assistant, Shirley Daniels
James Brewington, coaching the Washington Redskins

Joe Baker, pondering over a problem at General Motors, where he was working as an electrical engineer

David Blackwell, Charles Carney, and Otis Darden, three very efficient dentists, operating a successful clinic in Pasadena, California

Robert Coward and Russell Vines, working as electrical engineers at the Radio Corporation of America, in New York City

Floyd Dickens, acting as chief electronic engineer at General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York

William Ebron, playing first base, and William Teel, playing catcher, on the team of the New York Giants

Chief of Police Evelyn Floyd, supervising the Tampa, Florida, policewomen

Alice Streeter and Lillian Floyd, serving as airline hostesses for Pan-American Airlines

Herbert Harper, directing the United States Navy Band in Washington, D. C.

Billy Hester, managing the chain of Statler Hotels

General George Hunt, issuing directives from his office in the Pentagon Building

Jacques Jone (Jimmie Jones) owner of La Maison d'Arts, contracting with Mme. Este (Esther Sneed), prominent dress designer of Paris, France, to redecorate her shop La Couturiere

Georgialene Jackson, Dorothy Jones, and Rosa Lovette, working diligently with crippled children at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Greenville, South Carolina

Yvonne Jones, teaching commerce at the Agricultural and Technical College, Greensboro, North Carolina

John Jenkins, working as supervising mechanic for Eastern Airlines

Roxie Kilpatrick, chief operator for Bell Telephone Company, getting a manicure at The House of Charm, operated by Adell Joyner

Shirley Carr, Gloria Dotson, and Peggy Hardy, working tirelessly as surgical nurses at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland

Robert Edwards and Gene Carr, owners of The Edwards-Carr Construction Company, contracting for the brickwork on the new Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Shrine, to be erected in Washington, D. C.

Edna Leary, owner of The Laurie Dress Shoppe, Richmond, Virginia, outfitting Inell Randolph, an elementary teacher in the city system, for a South American cruise

Thelma Lofton and Geraldine Moore talking shop—Thelma is a dietitian at Walter Reed Hospital, while Geraldine is chief dietitian at Howard University.

Marvin Outterbridge, conducting his art class at the University of Paris.

Annie Porter, director of nursing arts at Harlem Hospital, discussing a staff problem with Dorothy White and Eleanor Newton, her assistants

Delois Sherrod, giving speed tests to her students at Cortez-Peters Business School, Washington, D. C.

Mary Smith, caseworker in Syracuse, New York, consulting with city attorney Joseph Tyson concerning a needy family; Dora Stocks, Joseph's secretary, is taking notes at the IBM typewriter.

Edna Wilkins, a mannequin from Freet's Dress Shoppe, owned by Alfreda Lovette, modeling furs at a fashion show sponsored by Doris Spell, who teaches home economics at Morgan State College

Julius Jones, dental technician, checking directions for making an upper plate for one of the patients of Dr. Hennie Thomas of Chicago, Illinois

David Williams, farm agent of Omaha, Nebraska, chatting with Beulah Weeks, who stopped enroute to San Francisco where she will work as a psychiatric social worker in the State Training School for Girls

"Now, Valgene," said Chanticleer, "You're last. Look!"

I did look and I saw myself, the owner of a dental laboratory and the employer of twenty technicians, and just as I'd love to have it...I was right in line, working as hard as any one of them!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

After four years of scratching and pecking for a healthy literary diet, we, the graduating class of 1957, discover that we have accumulated many valuable possessions worthy of crowing about that we would like to bequeath to those persons we leave behind.

Our profound gratitude goes to Mr. W. H. Davenport, our principal, who ever kept our wings clipped to keep us from "flying the coop."

Our gratitude we extend, also, to our faculty, whose constant guiding light furnished the energy by which we grew.

Our best wishes to all our underclassmen to "rule the roost" in English, math, history, French, "etcetero, etcetera, etcetera."

Wisto Adams leaves her needle and thread to Gloria Nimmo to sew Glorio's sides when she bursts out laughing.

Robert Coward leaves his "bankbook" to Jacquelyn Reeves.

Eleanor Newton leaves her knowledge of French to some needy junior.

William Ebron leaves his "ivy league" way with the girls to Lawrence Harris.

David Williams leaves the use of his huge hands to our quarterback Virgil Lynch.

Herbert Harper leaves the burden of playing the boss horn to Isaac Artis.

Edna Wilkins leaves her dignity to her sister Barbara.

William Teel leaves his position on the football squad to James Teele.

Peggie Hardy leaves her modesty to Jessie Best.

Billie Hester leaves a pair of shoe strings to Kenneth Greene.

Otis Darden leaves his old watch to Leno Carr, so that she will learn to value time.

Beulah Weeks leaves her position as secretary of the senior class to Ruby Early.

Thelma Lofton leaves her slenderness to Lucinda Brown.

John Jenkins leaves his blue and white socks to James Dotson.

Doris Spell leaves her neatness to Betty Knox.

Russell Vines leaves his height to Betty Corey.

Esther Sneed leaves her footprints to Ruby Early.

Delois Sherrod leaves her position as typist for the Eppesonion to Loretta Dupree.

Geraldine Moore leaves her nice straight feet to Cherry Hester.

Dorothy White leaves her majorette suit to Jolinda Ward.

David Blackwell leaves his "golden voice" to James Johnson.

James Brewington leaves his basketball suit to James Adams.

Hennie Thomas leaves her senior class seats to Bobby Jernigan.

Alice Streeter leaves her wit to her brother George.

Valgene Gibbs leaves her business acumen to Jane Jeffreys.

Gene Carr leaves his friendliness to Ed Weathington.

Joe Baker, leaves Reginald Graye the honor of being his best man, when he returns for Lois.

Georgialene Jackson leaves her gift of gab to Lena Reeves.

Floyd Dickens leaves his ability to charm "chicks" to Donovan Phillips.

Morvin Outterbridge leaves his ability to make the girls swoon to Edmund Love.

Jasper Armwood leaves his mustache to Vernal Harris.

Shirley Daniels leaves her ability to make friends to Sarah Jones.

Yvonne Jones leaves her femininity to Martha J. Brown.

Julius Jones leaves his reputation for being "Mr. Wonderful" to Julius Streeter.

Gloria Dotson leaves her smooth skin to Marvin Duncan.

Dorothy Jones leaves her poise to Carrie Jean Daniels.

Edna Leary leaves her well-groomed appearance to Emma Maye.

Roso Lovette leaves her ability to become very popular to Mary White.

Robert Edwards leaves his love of good sportsmanship to his brother Harry.

Alfredo Lovette leaves her sophistication to Peggy Staton.

Charles Carney leaves Meadowbrook and moves to town.

Roxie Kilpatrick leaves Mr. Davenport a bushel of town-grown sweet potatoes.

Governor Anderson leaves his job driving the school bus to William Holliday.

Annie Porter leaves her long silky hair to Ann Murphy.

Milbon Cobb leaves himself behind to keep the chicks at the barnyard happy.

George Hunt leaves his superb conduct to all his underclassmen.

Dora Stocks leaves her senior class books to Frankie Gillespie.

I... Jimmye Jones, leave my desire to sing in the Metropolitan Opera house to James "King Cole" Hines.

Signed and sealed this third day of June, in the year of our Lord, One thousand nine hundred and fifty seven.

Class Song

Tune: "Moments To Remember"

January to December...we'll have moments to remember.

The first bright day we came to school,
The day we learned the golden rule...
We'll have these moments to remember.
The quiet halls, the noisy fun,
The football games we almost won...
We'll have these moments to remember.

Tho' summer turns to winter and the present disappears,
The laughter we were glad to share will echo through the years.

Dear old Eppes High, we love you so;
We'll love you e'en tho' years may go...
You've given us moments to remember.
The end of the year has finally come;
Our work, dear ones, has just begun...
We leave these moments to remember.

VALGENE GIBBS

Class Poem

We are leaving now, dear classmates, with memories aglow,
For our work at Eppes is over, and onward we must go.
Fondly we remember each moment that we shared;
Ne'er shall we forget them...the many things we dared.

For four long years we've studied, trying to succeed:
Now our goal's accomplished, and it's time to leave.
We are very grateful to those who have helped us so;
We shall not forget them as time goes on...No!

We still have roads to travel to reach our highest goal,
And we will work unceasingly with heart, with mind, with soul.
Dear old Eppes High School, we pledge ourselves to thee;
In our hearts remain ever our truth our loyalty.
